

Massimo Ghini and Paolo Ruffini – Quasi amici

Category: Show

description: These two men meet by chance and this chance meeting makes them become inseparable, one is essential to the life of the other and soothing to the fatal wound that each carries inside. They don't know it, but they possess a gift which they can give to each other: lightness. But the search for lightness also passes through comedy. Laughing will be the secret to arrive at understanding even more the mechanisms that regulate life and the fates of these men. Laughing at oneself and at each other to get a better insight into the person standing in front of us naked and unscreened.
